ST. PATRICK'S-DAY CELEBRATION.

Having been appointed Chief Marshal of the procession with which the approaching 17th of March is to be commemorated in this city, I respectfully request all patrio ic and benevolent associations interested in this anniversary of Ireland's patron saint to honor us with their presence at CATHEDRAL HALL at 9 o'clock on the morning of that day to unite in the procession.

At 10 o'clock High Mass will be celebrated at the Cathedral, during which an address will be delivered by Rev. Dr. D. J. O'Connell, late of this city; and the collection taken up on the occasion will be devoted to the relief of the distress prevailing in the County Donegal. No worthier honor can be offered the memory of st. Patrick than to feed the starving women and children of his beloved ise, and I venture to hope that many of our felloweitiress of other faiths will add their contributions on that day—not alone in exhibition of their accessioned charity, but for the further reason that the county of our beloved Hishop.
